DONT GIVE UP THE SHIP!

A revival, after a lapse of twenty years, of the celebrated CINDERELLA SLIPPERS, so much admired in the "Days of Auld Lang Syne," as the most beautiful shoe to show off a handsome foot and a well turned ankle, that ever graced an assembly where all delight to tip it on the light fantastic toe. MR. ALLEN, the original native Costumer, and patentee of that superior and brilliant article, Gilt and Silver Leather, which, for elegance and durability, never has been surpassed in the world, having manufactured it in this good city, and various parts of the United States, for some time past, more or less, and at last introduced it into the city of London, where it was pronounced a splendid article, and one that was new; it was patronized by her Majesty, QUEEN VICTORIA, and her mother, the DUCHESS OF KENT, not that that would make it any better; Mrs. A. is a man above vulgar prejudices, but let it John Bull see that some things could be done as well as others.

Mr. Allen, as the native American Costumer General, continues to decorate all those who may stand in need of his assistance, whether for Theatrical, Fancy Ball, or Masquerade Dresses; which he flatters himself to be equal, if not superior, to any hortatory seen, in this or any other city; it was acknowledged in London he was Master of his Art! All orders for the above received at No 25 Murray street, and No 25 Broad way.

Silver and Gilt Leather uppers for ladies Slippers, furnished, and they can have them made by their own shoemakers, English Gilt and Silver Port-Fellos, Albion, &c., for NEW YEAR'S PRESENTS.

There are many circumstances connected with this circular which point an index to the intended movements of the enemies of our Government; but I shall leave to yourself and more able hands the duty of pointing them out. My intention when I commenced this communication was merely to send you the circular.

AN OLD DEMOCRAT.

BOSTON MORNING POST.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 28, 1837.

Paper Money—No 2.—An enlargement of paper currency beyond the growing demands of the trade, has exactly the same operation in raising prices as a multiplication of the precious metals. The one, however, is merely a local effect, while the other extends over the whole commercial world; the latter is produced gradually, scarcely becoming sensible, till after the lapse of a considerable period of time; whereas, the former may take place very quickly by a rapid increase of bank circulation. Every such depreciation of the value of the circulating medium, is accompanied with much inconvenience and distress. The value of monied capital is diminished and the livelihood is injured, of all those persons whose income is limited to a fixed sum of money. Great injustice likewise must, when the depreciation is rapid, unavoidably ensue, with regard to the performance of all contracts previously made. Hence it is of high political and moral importance, that the circulating medium of every country should preserve a steady and uniform value. This it can never do, unless the effective currency preserves permanently the same proportion to the demands of commerce.

Every banking company lies under great temptations of making excessive issues. Besides the direct profit which a bank receives from the circulation of its notes, they afford facilities, which the most cautious banker cannot always refuse, either to his own speculations or to those of his confidential associates. These temptations often get the better of all their prudence. The condition of our currency can no longer be considered as sound or natural, since the convertibility into specie is dispensed with. Since this check is removed, there is no longer any limit of the excess to which paper, while it retains the confidence of the country, may be carried. It is from the operation of gold and silver, in confining paper within its proper bounds, that the constant and immediate convertibility of notes into specie is rendered an indispensable condition of the soundness of every system of currency. In certain quarters, we still hear ignorant declamations against all paper currency—and on the other hand, in our commercial cities, opinions are gravely avowed, by persons who ought to be acquainted at least with the details of the money trade, that the precious metals are altogether unnecessary, even as a part of the circulation. The latter of these sentiments deserves to be branded with the epithet of loco-focoism, no less than the former. Both equally betray an ignorance of the theory of money. A perfect system of currency must be composed both of specie and paper. The essential benefit of the invention of paper-money, does not consist in forming an entire substitute for metallic currency—but in saving a certain portion of so costly an article, and in facilitating exchanges between places remote from each other, and economising the time and labor of large payments. Specie, as possessing intrinsic value, must still be considered as the ultimate element into which the currency of the country may at all times be resolved; and it is the true basis upon which the fabric of paper circulation must be solidly reared. The permanency of the value of the paper currency can only be secured by making what we may term the conventional representative of value, constantly and readily convertible into real value—into the precious metals. As the precious metals form the most convenient measure of value, and medium of exchange, they are better fitted than any other commodity to be the basis of a conventional currency, and to form that real value into which any portion of it may at all times be immediately converted. While the currency of a nation consists of the precious metals and of a paper system founded on, and secured by, the principle of convertibility, its value cannot be considerably depreciated, except along with the currency of the whole commercial world—by a change in the value of gold and silver.

How will “the winged thing, hovering in mid air,” like the following, which we copy from the Baltimore Transcript:

“Mr Vandenhoff surpassed all his former characters in the performance of Hamlet last night; and we have heard the opinion expressed by many that better acting was never seen on the Holliday boards. The audience were spell bound with admiration, and manifested their sense of his merits with most enthusiastic and long continued applause.”

On the First Page will be found the Circular of the whig Committee, begging funds to establish a new paper at Washington. Jo, they say is not spirited enough. A gentleman remarked to us, upon reading this, that it was a calumny, for Jo was not only a spirited man, but a man of ardent spirit.

The second man on the N. Y. Committee of Correspondence, who addressed Henry Clay, is Matthew L. Davis, the vile calumniator of THOMAS JEFFERSON, and the eulogist of Aaron Burr!

The citizens of Natchez, Miss., are having constructed at Baltimore, a splendid steam ship of 900 tons burthen, which is to ply as a regular packet between the cities of Natchez and New York.

The Daily Advertiser bestows deserved commendation upon “Prescott’s History of Ferdinand and Isabella.” It is a work of uncommon interest, and written in an elegant and happy style of composition.

Madam Caradori Allan’s third Concert will be given this evening at Boylston Hall. We understand that she will sing at the Handel and Haydn Society on Sunday night, when the Oratorio of the MESIAH will be performed.

Annuals.—We recommend to our readers, as the time for purchasing Christmas and New Year’s gifts approaches, to procure neat and elegant editions of standard works, which contain matter of intrinsic excellence, rather than to mislead their money upon those fashionable annuals, which seldom contain anything but the froth of the current literature, at a very high price.

Good.—In the Legislature of Alabama, on the 18th ult., a lawyer by the name of Ward, a young gentleman of promising talents, asked to be relieved from the operations of the duelling law, the disabilities of which he had incurred, (and which in that state includes disqualification from practising at the bar.) A long and able debate ensued on the application; but the legislature refused to grant it.

Suicide.—An unfortunate case of suicide occurred on Friday night last, at Rochester, N. Y. Thomas Cooley a respectable farmer, who resided nine miles west of that city, on the Buffalo road, hung himself from the limb of a tree—where his body was found on Saturday morning. It is supposed that pecuniary embarrassments, brought about by endorsing for his brother, induced the fatal act.

Another.—A Mr. Baltus Keefer, a merchant of Coeymans, Albany county, N. Y., while in a fit of mental derangement struck his father in a stable, and before an alarm could be given, ran to another part of the stable and hung himself.

John Jacob Astor has contributed $5,000 to the aid of Indigent Females.

Late from China.—By the ship Champlain, in the very short passage of 115 days from Canton, we have papers from that city to the 22nd of August inclusive, being three months later than our previous advices.—N. Y. COM. AD.

Canton, Aug 22.—We have not any local news of importance to impart to our readers, unless the contemplated removal of the ships outside from the Kiangyinmon to Hongkong may be considered of serious moment.

We confess that we are inclined to consider this constant and successful chasing of the ships from harbors to roadsteads, from roadsteads to the offing, as deserving of particular attention.

Whether the ships will be able, or whether they will desire to regain their anchorage at Lintin in October, we know not; but it is evident that the trade is daily falling more and more under the power of the local government.

Hongkong is a secure anchorage, but it is at a considerable distance from both Canton and Macao, and out of the tract of ships making the land; thus greater difficulties to the foreign trade are interposed; nor is it to be expected that the newly awakened zeal of the local officers will allow the ships to remain there long; and if they are driven thence where are they then to wander? These constant removals weaken the cause of foreigners, and excite the contempt of the local officers, who now must be convinced that, if their cupidity would allow them to proceed to extremities, they could put an entire and final stop to the outside trade.

Changes in Literature.—In former times, the daily papers, as in the days of the “Spectator,” were expected to contain a regular essay on some moral or literary subject. This was at a time when publications of all sorts were not so abundant as they now are.

The essay that now appears in the Monthly Magazine, or the Quarterly Review, was then found in the columns of the newspaper. The literature of the Gazette has now become more sententious.

If a reader were to take up a newspaper, and find a long essay on Virgil, Milton, or Shakespeare, or upon the moral duties of life, he would not stop to read it, any more than he would stop to listen to a sermon in his office or counting room.

He would omit reading such an essay, however good it might be, not because he has no taste for such disquisitions, but because they are misplaced when in the columns of a daily paper. When he takes up the paper, he has no leisure for voluminous reading. He wants to learn the news, and perhaps to amuse himself during a few moments of leisure. He wants to read no long yarns of several columns in length—no prosing essays—no long narratives, nor long documents of any kind, save those which especially concern the politics of the nation. The newspaper is the printed table-talk of the community; and one that is pithy and sententious, will be read with more interest and more advantage, than one that deals out its matter by columns. It is according to these principles that our paper is conducted. We calculate never to weary the patience of the most impatient reader. Our only long articles are such public documents and political articles, as must be published without abridgment to satisfy the reader.

There has been a most remarkable theatrical rumour at New York, which is thus described by the Star:

“Some time ago a Mr Earle leased the Franklin Theatre of the individual who was authorized to lease it and proceeded to embellish it with new decorations and scenery, splendid chandeliers, and collected a good company with which they opened the house. Mr Earle however as we are informed, and we do not say we are correctly informed, forgot to possess himself of the little piece of paper called the lease, which subsequently was transferred to Mr Flynn, who took possession, dropped the curtain, and reorganized the troupe. Mr Earle finding him self thus ousted, and not being able to obtain legal redress forthwith, was advised by his counsel to re-possess himself of the premises, and accordingly he mustered his forces on Christmas Day for a forcible entry and dastard, and proceeded to the Franklin while Flynn’s Company were rehearsing the Spy. Instead of politely requesting the ladies and gentlemen to exit quietly and go home and eat their Christmas dinner, they sprang on the stage, attacked the ladies, beat the supernumeraries, and commenced a regular mêlée. Mrs. Lively, however, who is an exceedingly clever swordswoman—good mœde dramatic actress, and a girl with an eye like Mars—threatened and commanded, rallied the forces, and like Joan of Arc, led the troupe to the property room, where they armed themselves with sticks, swords, &c., and made a furious onslaught on the Earle party—beat, banged, cuffed and maltreated them—drove them out of the house, and then pinched them all. Thus ended the affray, in which Mrs. Flynn was exceedingly ill-treated, the manager not being present.”

How will “the winged thing, hovering in mid air,” like the following, which we copy from the Baltimore Transcript:

“Mr Vandenhoff surpassed all his former characters in the performance of Hamlet last night; and we have heard the opinion expressed by many that better acting was never seen on the Holliday boards. ## POLICE COURT.

Mr Jeremiah Quinn was charged $7.33, for half-killing Mrs Margaret McVitty with a bed-post, in Sea street. The lady is well known to the police, and if Jerry had killed her entirely, he would have had a tolerably fair claim for seven dollars or more, for the job.

William Carroll, a young sailor, but an old soaker, took it into his head to go on a spree yesterday morning. At meridian, he was sublime, went on board of the schooner Splendid, and stole an axe, with which he let out the precious bows of a masts hoghead. After giving him a severe thumping, the lopers of India wharf handed him over to the constable, and the constable handed him over to the court, and the court handed him over to the jailor.

We yesterday reported Warren R. Wright, for stealing chickens. Our readers will probably recollect, that about some eighteen months ago, a shoemaker, by the name of Bates, was tried in the Municipal Court, for attempting to set his shop on fire, in Green street. Wright was the only material witness against him, and the counsel for the defence argued that the attempt alleged was a contrivance on the part of Wright, to ruin Bates. The jury, probably, were of the same way of thinking, for they promptly acquitted the defendant. This reminiscence is principally important, only as showing the importance of juries in criminal trials; for, from the positive and uncontradicted testimony of Wright, no judge could have assumed the responsibility of acquitting Bates.

We noticed the gross case of perjury committed in the Police Court on Monday, we passed over the following pathetic remark made by Thomas Maguire, the owner of the stolen coat, while in the Clerk’s office:

“The villains have stowled me coat away from me, entirely, with my poor deaf and dumb tattle, too. Yes, they have taken off me poor sow, that was just ready to be slaughtered.”

This is only equalled by a passage between a late Milesian clergyman in this city, named Moorehead, and one of his deacons. In a fervent moment, the reverend worthy said to his flock—“I am the shepherd, and ye are my sheep, and Willy Wilson is the bulldog to watch over ye.”

This importunate figure was by no means pleasant to Deacon Willy, and in something of a fret, he rose and said—

“Het, het, sir! Whin ye compare a comparison, why dont ye compare the comparison to a comparison, and no comparison a butch-dog to a dumb baste!”

The trial of Mr Pond, of Wrentham, for slandering the Rev. Moses Thatcher, of the same town, took place at Dedham, on Monday and Tuesday last. Damages demanded $3000—the jury returned a verdict of guilty, and $5 damages. The defendant accused the plaintiff of adultery, we understand. The Rev. gentleman’s character did not pass the ordeal of examination unscathed. The trial produced great interest. Among the witnesses, we are informed, was the wife of one of the deacons of Mr Thatcher’s church. Most of the evidence was of a very revolting character. For the Commonwealth, Messrs Merrick and Cleaveland—for the Defendant, Messrs Choate and Metcalf.

THE GROWTH OF THE WEST.

We extract the following interesting history of the rise and progress of Chicago, from Ellsworth’s “Illinois in 1837.”

“The city of Chicago is the largest place in the state of Illinois, and has grown rapidly during the past seven years, from a post of justice for Cook county, and is situated on the west side of lake Michigan, at the mouth of Chicago river, and at the eastern end of the Illinois and Michigan canal. Its growth, even for western cities, has been unexampled. In Dr Beck’s Gazetteer, published in 1823, Chicago is described as a village of 10 or 12 houses, and 60 or 70 inhabitants. In 1832, it contained five small stores, and 250 inhabitants; and now (1837) the population amounts to 5000, with 120 stores, besides a number of groceries; of the former, twenty sell by wholesale. It has also twelve public houses, three newspapers, near fifty lawyers, and upwards of thirty physicians.

Chicago is connected with the numerous steamboats, sailing ships, galleys, &c., that navigate the great fresh water system of the north, with all the different trading ports on lakes Michigan, Huron, and Erie, and especially with Buffalo, to and from which city various lines of regular packets are constantly departing and arriving. Some of the steamboats are of great power and burthen. The James Madison, built last winter at Erie, Pennsylvania, expressly for the Chicago, Milwaukee, and Buffalo trade, on her first trip in May of the present year, carried over 4000 barrels of freight, and upwards of 900 adult passengers, besides a large number of children, and in six days the voyage was estimated at 1500 dollars. It is intended to have this vessel leave Chicago and Buffalo every 18 days.

The steamer is 185 feet in length, 21 feet beam, and 45 feet in width on deck including the guards, 12 feet depth of hold, 720 tons burthen, and propelled by a high pressure horizontal engine of 180 horse power.

The merchandise imported into Chicago in the year 1836 amounted in weight to 25,000 tons, and in value to upwards of three millions of dollars, besides a vast number of emigrants with their families, provisions, &c. There arrived in the same year 456 vessels, including 49 steamboats, 10 ships and barges; the rest, brigs, schooners, and sloops. During the last winter, 127 teams, and 1500 men, were employed for the country, were counted in the street in one day.

The Presbyterians, Methodists, Baptists, Episcopalians, and Roman Catholics, each have houses of worship. There are like wise one or more insurance companies, fire companies, water works for the supply of water from the lake, several good schools, and a respectable academy. A large brewery, a steam saw and grist mill, and a large furnace, are all in successful operation.

The building of an Academy of Fine Arts is likewise contemplated, and measures are about taken to obtain it for a collection of pictures.

The city which the original surveyors took to give a prairie winds a full sweep through the city, has distinguished it as the most healthful place in the western world, and has made it the resort of a large number of people during the sickly season.”

HUNTER'S PILLS—INJECTION POWDERS AND CERATE!!!

THESE long-established preparations have met with a very extensive sale in the City and State and throughout the Union. They were prepared by the late Dr Conway for above fifteen years, and administered with unrivaled success during that period.

The Pills, when used with the Injection Powders and Cerate, (when the latter are required) effect a thorough and rapid cure of the

from the slightest infestation, to the most inflammatory stages, and of every other species of the disease, even after the person has entered the circulation, and the whole habitus has become tainted. The timely administration of these Pills has saved thousands of unhappy sufferers from all those calamities incident to the disorder, when, by neglect, it is suffered to become deeply rooted in the constitution.

The most plain and ample directions, together with a popular treatise, explaining the various symptoms, and the method of treatment, are sent in a box—Cerate and Injection Powders, 50 cents each.

27 Name, genuine, unless signed on the outside printed wrapper by the sole Proprietor, T. RIDDER, immediate successor to the late Dr W. T. Conway. For sale, with all the other "Conway Medicines," at his Counting Room, No. 99, next door to J. Ridder's Drug Store, corner of Court and Hanover streets, near Concert Hall, Boston—and also, by his special appointment, by the Druggists generally in Boston and vicinity.

Dr. KINGLEY'S PILLS

THE most safe, effectual and economical remedy for disease of the Human Constitution, that has ever been dis-coved.

These Pills are composed entirely of materials extracted from Medical Plants, and are warranted not to contain the particle of mercury, or any mineral substance. Dr Kingley, the inventor of this valuable medicine, from his knowledge of the Human System, derived from a long and extensive practice, has arrived to the conclusion, that the great and primary cause of most diseases is a derangement in the functions of the Liver, or, in other words, an increased or diminished secretion of Bile.

So well is this understood, that it is common for persons to say when they feel unwell, that they are bilious, meaning that they have too much bile in the stomach. On the other hand, when the flow of bile is diminished, the process of digestion is imperfectly performed, the patient becomes weak and emaciated, because nourishment contained in the food taken into the stomach is not properly extracted, and the food is ejected in a crude state. Dr Kingley is confident that the famous Hygienic Theory, so called, that "Impurity of the blood is the cause of all diseases" is a great absurdity. Every one who suffers from this disease, will be relieved by the use of the Pill, as the blood is a secondary, not a primary complain-—the effect and not the cause of disease. When the functions of the liver are deranged, and the flow of bile increased, it is often taken up by the absorbent vessels and carried into the circulation, and becomes mingled with the blood as in Jaundice, when the patient shows it in his countenance. Now this Impurity of the blood is caused by an increased flow of the bile, and to remedy it you must correct the secretion of the bile, and restore it to a healthy state.

Dr Kingley has spent much time in experimenting with different vegetable medicines, for diseases of the liver, and now offers his Universal Family Pills as the best, most convenient and cheapest medicine that can be prepared for general use; and in offering them to the public, he is actuated more by benevolence than pecuniary motives, as the price of the medicine will show.

Dr Kingley flatters himself that his long experimenting with vegetable medicines has enabled him to discover the true and only substance answering all the purposes of mercurials, without any of their attendant evils. One great quality of his Family Pills is that they have the alterative principle combined with their cathartic or operative quality, so that they not only cleanse the stomach and bowels by purging, but they regulate the liver, change the properties of the vessels, and improve the blood, invigorate the heart, and strengthen the heart, and give tone and energy to the persons system.

They are mild and pleasant in their operation, and convey instant immediate conviction of their utility from the first dose they can be taken with safety by persons of any age, and the bile, the infirm, the nervous, the delicate, are strengthened by their operation, because they clear the system of bad humors, quiet nervous irritabilities and restlessness, from whatever source, and invariably produce sound sleep.

The Family Pills are an invaluable remedy for the aches, ticks and nervous headache, dyspepsia, costiveness, sickness of the stomach, heartburn, all forms of catarrhal fevers of all kinds, and especially useful in consumption, with a good receipt for progress and save the patient from a protracted and dangerous sickness. They are invaluable in nervous and hypochondriac affections, loss of appetite, and all complaints to which females alone are subject. They operate as a mild and speedy purge, and are a safe and certain remedy for worms in children.

Since I have introduced my Universal Family Pills to the public I have received numerous certificates of their superior efficacy in curing diseases; also many letters from respectable physicians who have used them in their practice with the best success.

I might publish a small volume of certificates, but consider it unnecessary, as the medicine will recommend itself to all who will make trial of it.

JOHN KINGLEY.

These Pills are put up in neat boxes of two sizes, the small size contains 25 pills, and the retail price is 25 cents, the large size contains 50 pills, the price is 50 cents.

MR PALMER, JONES & BLAKE have been appointed agents for the above pills for the New England States. Drugists and others can be supplied wholesale and retail, upon application to them at No 44 Hanover st, Boston.

ADAMS'S PATENT

SWELL'D BEAM

THE subscriber has on hand a good assortment of beams, Swell'd Beam Windlass Bedsteads, which, for comfort and convenience is undoubtedly the best article yet invented; its chief peculiarity is that of the Swell'd Beam, the effect of which is to produce a crowning, and elastic sacking, and effectually provides against its sagging. They are easily set up or taken down, and may be saved in case of fire as easily as any other piece of furniture, and from its mode of construction less liable to harbor insects than any other kind; but above all its advantages is the ease and comfort obtained from the sacking, being made and kept elastic by means of the Swell'd Beam, (the form of which is exhibited in the above cut.)

Orders hankily received, and promptly attended to.

CHARLES ADAMS, Patentee.

BERTRAM'S INK POWDER—Look made from

Paint Powder is most suitable for all kinds of Metallic Pens, exceedingly good for Pens made from Quills, and excellent for the Copying Machine.

The ordinary Inks do not flow freely down Metallic Pens, and from their evanesce nature are very injurious to them.

The Perryman Ink possesses every good quality of the best Inks and has a glowing property peculiarly adapted for Metallic Pens and will not corrode them.

Writing performed with this Ink in a short time becomes of a deep black and never turns brown in any climate or under any circumstances.

Also, adventurers, to gain a trifle more profit, have introduced into the United States counterfeit imitations, composed of deleterious ingredients, injurious to the hair, to the serious injury of the proprietors and the public.

To prevent such imposition, A. Rowland & Son respectfully solicit particular attention on purchasing the original Macassar Oil; each bottle is enclosed with a treasise on the back, in an envelope, tastefully executed, with the names of its agents on each part of the label.

The signature and address is red, on a pattern of lace work, similar to the backer's cheque.

A. Rowland & Son, 20 Hatton Garden, London.

Also, each bottle has the name and address of the Agent on the back—Mr J. A. DICKSON, Music Saloon, Cornhill, formerly Market street, Boston.
